HELLO FROM GILBERT AND OLLIE!

Learn all about the Horicon Marsh, clean up at home and around your yard, and connect the dots to reveal a fun, spring image!

WELCOME, SPRING

LET'S LEARN ABOUT THE HORICON MARSH!

- The Horicon Marsh is a 33,000-acre wetland carved out by a continental glacier thousands of years ago.
- Horicon Marsh is the largest freshwater Marsh in the United States!
- There are over 5 miles of designated hiking trails through forest, prairies and wetland habitats.
- You can see Canada geese, wood duck, marsh wren, painted turtles, deer, beavers, muskrat, river otters, and mink!
- While 300 different kinds of birds have been recorded at the marsh over the year, it is home to a number of threatened and endangered species, which gives birders the occasional rare sighting.

SPRING CLEAN-UP

HOW CAN YOU HELP AT HOME?

- Declutter Toys and Clothes: Go through your toys and clothes, setting aside items you no longer use and donate to local charities.
- Organize Books and Games: Sort through your books and games, arranging them neatly on shelves or in bins.
- Clean Your Room: Dust, vacuum, and tidy up your room. Make it fun by listening to music while you clean!
- Help with Yard Work: Clean up a garden or your yard by raking leaves and removing dead plants.
- Nature Walks: Go on a walk with a family member and pick up trash in your neighborhood!
